CODE OF ETHICS

The FOUNDATION FOR INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING THROUGH STUDENTS (FIUTS) is an independent non-profit organization which has been based at the University of Washington since 1948. Our mission is to inspire lifelong engagement in experiences that build global understanding. FIUTS is a secular and non-political organization, open to people of all faiths and ideologies who wish to come together in the spirit of international friendship. We value open-mindedness and respect for the richness of cultures around the world.

As a member of NAFSA, the National Association of International Educators, FIUTS adheres to the NAFSA Code of Ethics. FIUTS asks that anyone participating in our activities comply with the following guidelines:

- Demonstrate awareness of, sensitivity to, and respect for other values, beliefs, viewpoints, systems, and cultures.
- Recognize their own cultural and value orientations and be aware of how those orientations affect their interactions with people from other cultures.
- Not discriminate with regard to race, color, national origin, ethnicity, sex, religion, sexual orientation, marital status, age, political opinion, immigration status, or disability.
- Not proselytize. Proselytizing is defined as unsolicited, coercive, manipulative and/or hidden persuasion that seeks to influence others to adopt another way of thinking, believing or behaving, particularly in relation to religious and political views.
- Not exploit, threaten, coerce or sexually harass others.
- Seek appropriate guidance and direction when faced with ethical dilemmas.

Please help us ensure that FIUTS is a place where international friendships can truly flourish. Let a FIUTS staff or board member know immediately if anyone involved in a FIUTS activity does not respect the above guidelines. Ask a FIUTS staff member if you would like a copy of this policy or examples of possible scenarios.

If you prefer to raise your concerns anonymously, please send your concern by mail. To speak with a staff member directly, please call (206) 543-0735 or email info@fiuts.org.

I have read the above document and agree to follow its guidelines.
